can be raised in time to catch the highest. Northern prices.

Much of this land is owned by the Florida oast Line Canal and Transportation Comcany, and bears a fine growth of timber, from which large sams may be realized. The section along the Indian River and Lake Worth is well settled, and the land is the most valuable in the State, the east coast being tapped by four railways, and the rivers along the coasbeing marginated by ateamboats.

Improved transportation facilities and defighted climate (being so near the ocean the air is much more bracing than further inland) make this an excellent opportunity for actual settlers.

War Talk Again.—A dispatch from across the water came into Washington to-day to the effect that a prominent British officer had said that his Government had issued an ultimatum in the Bering Sea matter and if it were not accepted there would be war rights away. Nothing was known in regard to the matter either at the War or State Departments, and at neither of those Departments was the least credence given to the story.

Certains Points.—The Treasury Department has ordered that, until its appeal from the decision of the Board of General Appraisers at to the classification of wool-knit goods is decided, that decision is to be disregarded, and woolen underwear to be classified under the provisions for wearing apparel. The Department also amounces that all packages containing imported tobacco must be marked with the name of the country of origin in legible English words.

The properties to be purchased are the Richards Building for the use of the Coast Survey at $55,000; the Maltby Honse for the use of Congress and adjacent lots on the west side of that house, $138,000; and the land and buildings thereon in lots 11 and 12 of square 689, bounded north by South B street, east by New Jersey avenue, west by South Capitol street for the use of the Treasury Department, $275,000.

OFFICHES AT SCHOOLS.—The War Department has issued instructions in regard to the detail of Army and Navy officers at military schools having a capacity to educate not less than 150 male students. As a rule, Army officers who have served less than three years with their regiments or who have recently completed a tour of detached services will not be eligible for detail at schools. Applications for officers to serve such schools must be made to the Secretary of War, and must be accompanied by a certificate as to the number of students in such institution. Freasury Department, $275,000.

THE GULF DOCK SITE.—The Commission which was appointed to select a site for a Gulf of Mexico dry dock, has made its report. The Commission says that an exhaustive examination of the Gulf coast and waters was made. The most eligible site is pronounced to be the south pass of the Mississippi at New Orleans, which affords an entrance to a harbor twenty-six feet deep far enough from the sea to be rafe from gun fire. The west bank of the river is the one for the dock site. There is the Government Naval reservation. The ridditional property which will have to be lought is held at $150,000. The price for a portion of this property is held to be excessive in the opinion of both the New Orlean's Car zens' Commission. THE GULF DOCK SITE. - The Commission

Died in the Hospital. Yesterday afternoon Officer Allen found an old man lying on the sidewalk at the corner of H and Eighth streets. He was able to talk a little and said that his name was E. Dorsey Atchison, The patrol wagon from the First precinct was summoned and Mr. Atchison, who seemed to be very feeble and suffering much pain, was removed to the Emergency Hospital. Drs. Middleton and Hail did everything in their power for the suffering man, but he sank rapidly and died last night at 12.30 o'clock. H was learned that he was a lawyer and had an office in New York and some wealthy relatives in Baltimore. The doctors at the hospital give uracmic poison and Bright's disease as the cause of death. THE NEW POLICE JUDGESHIP.

Complete 11st of the Candidates and Other Points.
Solicitor-General Taft to-day told THE Carrie man that it would be impossible to fix even approximately the time when the new Police Judge for the District of Columbia would be appointed. He could, however, say that considerable time would clapse before the organization of the new court is completed. In the meantime the list of candidates for the Judgeship is growing larger. The fight will be a very brisk one with so many Richmonds in the field, and the chances are that they will increase in number as the days draw on. A list of all the candidates who, to date, have filed papers, or whose friends have done so for them, will first be printed when Tan Carrie goes to press this afternoon. They are T. A. Daffy, Clinton Lloyd, J. H. Lichtiter, Howard L. Prince, Nell Dumont, Andrew K. Brown, Charles H. Armes and Daniel E. Cahill.

It is understood that the temperance people will file a protest against the appointment of Mr. Cahill, because of his activity in the past in defending persons charged with violations of the liquor law. new Police Judge for the District of Colum ers' Office.

Does the Law Apply to Georgetows?—
The Commissioners have communicated with the attorney for the District, calling his attention to the clause of the deficiency bill requiring concurrent action of the Commissioners and the Secretary of War in granting permits for the extension of any building in the city of Washington. The Commissioners wish the attorney's opinion as to whether the provision applies to buildings in Georgetown.

New Headquarters for Veteran Firemen.—A delegation from the Veteran Firemen Association called upon the Commissioners yesterday afternoon to see about the property at Nineteenth and H streets, which was given to the association by the last Congress. The property was formerly used as an engine-house by the Union Volunteer Fire Company, and for some years past as a school-house. The building will be put in repair and turned over to the association in the course of a week.

A Hearing About Subdividual Eckington.—Mr. Truesdell and a number of interested parties had a hearing this morning before Commissioners Ross and Douglas and Capain Rossell, who represented Commissioner Robert. The subject of the hearing was a subdivision about to be made near Eckington.

Arguing Against the Milk Limit.—The applications for liquor licenses that have been rejected were sent to-day to the Assersor's Office to Mr. Montague, the license clerk, for arrangement, tabulation, etc. It will be several days before this will be completed. The mile-limit decision regarding the Soldiers' Home has been a subject of discussion among dealers within that limit and their attorneys. A meeting of the latter was held yesterday afternoon at Faber's, on Ninth street, and the decision thoroughly overhanded. The Commissioners have requested the attorneys to prepare a brief stating authorities for the measurement of the limit by roadways and not by an actual circle. They are now preparing a brief stating these points, which will probably be submitted on Friday next.

CLAIMED TO BE ILLEGALLY DETAINED.—
Seggeant McTaggart of the police force was at the District Building this morning to see the Commissioners regarding a young lady who is said to be held illegally in the Home of the Good Shepherd lay next. gally in the Home of the Good Shepherd in Georgetown. The girl, whose name is Sanford, has been in the Home for over eight years and is now over age. Her prother believing that she no longer wishes to stay in the institution has requested the officer to ask the Commussioners to effect her release. The regular process to do this would be through the civil couris by a writ of habeas corpus, but having no money or means to push a suit in the couris he will endeavor to have the Commissioners use their authority as inspectors of institutions to have her released.

and Navy.

Lucon Men Representatives Before The Commissioners.—Hon. Simon Wolf, as attorney for over eighty liquor dealers whose applications for licenses were rejected, appeared before Commissioners Douglass, Robert and Ross yesterday afternoon on behalf of his clients. The hearing lasted over two hours, and no definite action was taken by the Commissioners. The cases, however, were taken under advisement, and, at the request of Mr. Wolf, handed over to Colonel Robert to be acted upon by him. It is expected that a number of the rejected licenses, after a reconsideration, will be granted.

Wants Information.—Mr. Charles Waxrs Information.—Mr. Charles Marseilles, a journalist of Exeter, N. H., has written to the Commissioners, asking for information concerning any municipal publication—historical, statustical, etc., of the Washington Beard of Trade, or Board of Commerce.

For a Temporary Postoffice.—Among Commissioner Ross' visitors this morning was Postmaster Sherwood, who called to see him on certain matters relative to the city postoffice. The renting of a city postoffice to take the place of the old one until the proposed building is erected will be considered this afternoon at the city postoffice.

Lieutenant Boteler, recently tried for drunkennant Boteler, recently tried for drunkenness, have not yet been prepared by the official stenographer at Police Headquarters, but the papers in the case will probably be submitted to the Commissioners by Major Moore in the course of a day or two.

Complains that the Cars Are Detained.—President White of the Capitol. North O Street and South Washington Italiany Company has written to Capital Rossell, calling attention to the unnecessary detention of his company's cars at the crossings at Sixth street and Maryland avenue and at Eleventh street southwest by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The cars, he says, have often been delayed for fifteen to twenty minutes, and often by moving a locomotive or a car's few feet the cars could pass: but there appears to be a disposition on the part of the employes of the railroad to obstruct street-our travel.

to be a disposition on the part of the employes of the railroad to obstruct street-car travel.

Captain Rossell says that this matter would strictly come under the head of police regulations, and it will be necessary to see whether Congress, holding legislative powers, has made such regulations as will prevent the occurrence of these armoyances to the Belt Line Road. He therefore recommends that the subject be referred to the attorney for the District, with the request that he inform the Commissioners as to the lineir rights and duties in the case, and that the matter also be referred to the Police Pepartment and the policemen on the beats notified to watch the railroad and the street cars and ascertain the real facts in the case.

DISTRICT CANDIDATES FOR DELEGATE TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

the city, and in Anacosta and other outlying prospective cities.

Judge Daniel Cahill, if he fails to catch on to that Police Justiceship, will, his friends say, be in the hot lead for one of the places, while the adherents of the Hen. Andrew Gleason predict that their champion will have a practical walkover. If the Hon. Andy gets there the people will not have any difficulty in finding out exactly where he stands. He will be found voting at all times for the Hon. James Gillespie Blaine.

Colonel Perry Carson, who was Mr. Gleason's colleague in the last National Convention and who is the District's representative on the Republican National Committee, will also be in the field again. Colonel Carson is a warm friend of Mr. Blaine, but as the Colonel is now sitting on a fat Federal job he may turn about and work for President Harrison's renomination. The Colonel, as we all know, is a firm believer in reciprocity, and it is quite certain he will help the man who helped him. Fred. Pyson, who has been a bitter opponent of Colonel Carson's in past conventions, is also an Administration man. It is rumored that Fred. and the Colonel have buried the same cause.

It is not unlikely that East Washington will have a candidate in the person of Professor Michael Angelico Robinson, the distinguished tonsorial artist. Professor Robinson is a consistent party man, but has not committed himself to any one as yet. The Professor, however, thinks well of Channey M. Depew and ex Speaker Reed, and it may be that, if elected, he would be found supporting one of the two gentlemen named.

Lewis H. Douglass and Fred. Douglass, jr. both sons of the Hon. Frederick Douglass, have been spoken of, as has William Calvin Chase, George Boston and others. There will be a great fight when the convention is called. It is not unlikely that Colonel Perry Carson, unless he has lost his cumning since he joined the Church, will centrol the organization, and, as usual, walk off with the honors.

Mr. W. D. Russell of Michigan is in the city. He was not a belligerent in the late war, but he was at the front. After General Butler occupied New Orleans it occurred to Mr. Russell that he might find a good chance to make a handsome thing by going down there with the capital he had in hand and looking out for opportunities for turning it over. He went and was very successful indeed in adding to his worldly gear.

The best investment that he made, as he told The Carrio reporter to-day, was the purchase of a big Mississippi River steamboat. The planters up the river wanted to get their cotton down to New Orleans and be permitted to dispose of it to the Northern manufacturers who were as anxious to buy as the planters were to sell.

and be permitted to dispose of it to the Northern manufacturers who were as anxious to buy as the planters were to sell. Permission to that end was obtained from General Butter with a promise that the cot-ton would be protected, the condition being that the planters when they went back should not convey to the Confederates up the river any news of what was going on the river any news of what was going on below. It was Mr. Russell's big boat that secured the privilege of bringing down the cotten and the planters.

"And," he said, "I made big money. I took the planters and their cotton down and I took the planters up. Of course, my boat was not by any means the only steamer on the river that flew the Union flag. But I was never fired upon by the Confederates. One day there came to me a captain of a steamer who said that he was being shot at about all the time by the Confederates. He wanted to know how it was that I was exempt in that particular. I replied: 'It is this way. You see I always have on board the daddies of the fellows who make a target of you.'"

He was an elderly but not a sailor man. He held THE CRITIC reporter with his gentle brown but not glittering eye. There was none of Coleridge's ancient mariner about him, but he got in his work on the reporter as successfully as did the poet's weird and grim character on the weiding guest. It was at the White House and the man was an Ohio man. He had a chart which he showed the reporter, and teld him what it meant and all about it. The title of the chart is "Hebrew Christology in the Sabbath System, showing the relative positions of the earth, the moon and the sum, the barear, the Christian and the ancient solar calendar for each day in the Year."

the sun, the issear, the Christian and the arcient solar calendar for each day in the year."

On the chart are symbols innumerable. All the signs of the zodiac are there. The sailor's compass an the clock of every life is to be seen. There are ellipses, hyperbolas and parabolas, the latter with their asymptotes. There are wheels within wheels, and circles as many as follow the casting of a stone into a pool of still water. Hebrew letters and words are all about, and scattered around and collected into groups there are more figures than in a table of logarithims. And this chart, in the language of the man who so gently but so magnetically held the reporter, is intended to do this:

"To present an unbroken chain of recognized time from Adam to the present date in perfect harmony with the United States Nautical Almanac. To show that the whole biblical formation is built upon the life of Christ, including the heavens and the carth, proving from prophecy not only His birthday, but twenty eight days in relation to His life work, showing by beautiful time-chart—solar, lumar, and Christian—that the Spirit of Christ has existed from the earliest period."

The name of the gentle man who thus held the reporter and gave him valuable information is J. H. Cruzen, and Xenia, Ohio, is his home.

Representative Jonathan P. Dolliver will leave for his home at Fort Dodge, Iowa, on Thursday next. Mr. Dolliver is one of the few Republicans who survived last fall's landslide.

Mr. T. W. Blackburn, chief of the Edu-cation Division of the Office of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior, has resigned. Representative Pickler of South Dakota has recommended a man for the place from his own young but lively State.

THE LEAGUE'S COUP

Johnson's Sale of the Cincinnati Club Occasions Great Surprise.
CINCINNATI, Outo, March 10.-A thun derbolt from a clear sky could not have created greater surprise and dismay than created greater surprise and dismay than the amouncement to the Association delegates last night that Al Johnson had sold out his interest in the Cincinnati Club to the National League. There was a little group assembled in the corridors of the Burnet House shortly before the hour of midnight. They were all in a happy frame of mind, as they had received nawsearly in the evening that the League agent had falled to negotiate with Johnson, and they naturally felt secure in their position and confident of success in the fight with the old organization. A few of them at first refused to credit the report.

of them at first refused to credit the report.

If the deal had been consummated earlier in the day it would not have occasioned so much surprise, but they all felt secure in the thought that the League had failed to treat with the big Brother-hood chief. 'Nothing ought to surprise me,' remarked Julian B. Hart, 'but still I believed that Johnson would remain firm in his resolve and fight out the issue with the League in this city.'

A group of jolly-looking men stood in the lobby of the Burnet House this morning, chatting and laughing in an unconcerned way. They were delegates from the various clubs in the American Association, who came here to attend the spring meeting.

"You fellows just wait two or three days," said Zack Phelps, "and you will see a change in the situation."

Chris Von der Ahe and George Munson arrived this morning from St. Louis and joined the crowd. Von der Ahe remarked: "Well, the Association is not yet whipped, and we will make a big fight before giving up."

"That about the size of it," chimed Munson. "Cincumati favors an Association.

before giving up."

"That about the size of it," chimed Munson. "Cincunnati favors an Association club, and the matter of putting a new club in here will certainly be discussed at the meeting to-day."

"We are not beaten," said Julien Hart, "though taken by surprise. We will meet as we had arranged to do, but other business will come up before the schedule is discussed."

The feeling expressed by other delegates was that Johnson had made a good thing of the sale, but that he had made a cut's paw of the Association. Twenty four hours ago the League was whipped to a standstill. They were desperate, and, as Kelly expressed it, "would have paid $60,000 to get the club."

They also say that Jehnson should, as

They also say that Johnson should, as a matter of principle, have given the As-sociation a chance to purchase at the same figure before selling out. The deal places President Kvamer in the very position of living in a city which has no Association club.

position of living in a city which has no Association club.

The League has the best of the situation this morning, but everything may change by night. Prince and Wagner can now turn on the League and close the gates of the Western avenue grounds by injunction. Altogether affairs are decidedly mixed. This last deal makes six organizations the Cincimunt club has held a membership in within the past eighteen months. Within four months she has been in the League three times.

The Greatest Storm of the Year Approaching the American Coast.

weather prophet, after the calm following the Dominion election, has again attracted public attention. He said to the Time's correspondent last night:

"There is at this moment on the North Atlantic and approaching the American coast a greater storm than any that will happen during the remainder of this year or any during 1892. There will be no earthquake beyond a few shakes north of the equator during these two years. There will be some south of the equator. Owing to Jupiter's southern declination, which is 12°, his large right ascension, twenty-two hours, will contribute greatly to the storm now pending.

When asked if the equinoxes of Mars, Jupiter and Saturn would influence our atmosphere, he langued and said no, but that this would produce a heavy storm on each of these planets, but could not affect the carth. There will be no great earthquakes with displacement in North America until August 17, 1904. This will rock the surface from Philadelphia to Prince Edward Island, and may produce some damage in the maritime cities of the Northern States and the Dominion."

In view of these facts, which became privately known soon after the Secretary's death, some of his friends and admirers in New York thought it becoming that the family of so good a public servant should have some festimomal of the esteem in which he was held by the public. Discord Between Parnellites and Anti-Purnellites Over the St. Patrick's Day Celebration-The Shipping Pederation Has Won the Day-Parliament May Inquire Into the Abduction of Mrs

Loxbox, March 10.-The Parnellites and anti-Parnellites are already in discord over St. Patrick's Day, and it is feared that the celebration will be attended by many out-breaks between the factions. The Parnellite minerity of the National League of Great Britain have decided to issue a unifesto to the various branches ex-of Great Britain have decided to usue a manifesto to the various branches explaining their position. The members in favor of Parnell's retention of the leadership will be recommended to take no action calculated to accentuate the split, and in the event of any attempt by the other side to utilize the St. Patrick's Day celebrations for making personal attacks upon the member from Cork, the Parnellites will be urged to maintain as patient a demeanor as possible.

There is reason to apprehend, however, that this good advice will not be universally accepted even in England, and in Ireland the feast of Patron Saint is looked forward to with many misgivings. It is stated that Balfour has given orders that all constabulary be kept on duty that day, large bodies to be concentrated wherever there is most danger of rioling. Mr. Parnell will, it is said, spend the day in Cork.

It is admitted that the Shipping Federation has wen the day in the contest with the unions, and this without going beyond the first levy of one penny per ton imposed on the shipping of its members. This levy brought in about £0,000. The federation has not lowered wages, the general tendency being to increase wages. The Marquis of Londonderry is accused of acting in a very high-handed manner in the evictions at Silesworth, Durham, which were continued yesterday. It is asserted that men who were brought to the place to assist in the evictions and refused to do so were detained by the police. On the police finding that they were getting beyond the law in such detention they allowed the men to depart. The Marquis is a hot-headed nobleman, and proclaims his hostility to all labor agitation. His course in the Durham evictions has won him great unpopularity. It is said that one of the miners evicted is an illegitimate son of a former Marquis, who was entirely ignored by his unnatural parent.

The abduction of Mrs. Jackson by her husband, on Sunday, will probably be the subject of inquiry in Parliament. English law on the question of conjugal rights is rather antiquated for present ideas of woman's rights. It was extended to India about a quarter of a century ago, and is used by Hindoo husbands to compel wives who were wedded in infancy, and had never seen the husband, to lire with him, the wives in many instances being mere children. The Jackson case illustrates its possible abuse in England, and may lead to a change that will give a wife security from an outrage like that of Clitheroe.

The transfer of Count Eulenberg from Stuttgart to Munich is regarded in Berlin as a sign that the Emperor wishes to be represented at the court of Bavaria by a minister of whose attachment to his person there can be no doubt. Count Eulenberg and the Kaiser were intimate personal friends before William's elevation to the throne and have so continued.

A Berlin correspondent says that the statement, to which currency has been given, that the Emperor William has never been in Paris is incorrect. As Prince William he was twice in the city, but on both occasions he preserved a strict incomits. On one of these occasions he was recognized by some French officers in cognite. On one of these occasions he was recognized by some French officers in a theatre, and left Paris immediately. His brother, Prince Henry, has also been in the French Capital, and the Empress Frederick has paid five visits to Paris since 1870.
